

Clinical Trials in the Era of Prevention: Scientific Symposium

Randall Bateman DIAN-TU Jessica Langbaum API	Jessica Langbaum API	Reisa Sperling A4	Suzanne Craft SNIFF
Autosomal Dominant 1% of AD	E4/E4 asymptomatic 2% of population	Amyloid Positive asymptomatic 30% of population aged 65+	Symptomatic MCI and Dementia 25% of population aged 65+

Clinical Trials in the Era of Prevention: Ethical Complexities & Recruitment Challenges

Panel Discussion

Panel Discussion Leader/Moderator: Jason Karlawish, M.D., Professor of Medicine, Medical Ethics and Health Policy, University of Pennsylvania

Panelist

Jessica Langbaum, Ph.D.
Principal Scientist, Banner Alzheimer's Institute
Associate Director,
Alzheimer's Prevention Initiative

Panelist

Maria Carrillo, Ph.D.
Vice President, Medical and Scientific Relations
Alzheimer's Association

Panelist

Josh Grill, Ph.D.
Director, Recruitment and Education Core, UCLA ADRC

- Confidentiality and privacy of information in medical and research records
- Understanding impact(s) of using biomarker and genetic information in both research and medical contexts
- Staff training about new model of clinical trials
- Novel challenges in recruitment and retention with attention to non-majority populations