

Wake Forest ADCC

Research Education Component (REC) Core

- Provide mentoring, training & new research opportunities for early-stage investigators
- Provide training opportunities to foster competency in both preclinical & clinical research to strengthen foundation for efficacious translational AD research
- Leverage existing expertise and resources to increase number of investigators engaged in AD research (radiology, aging, the arts, cancer, CVD, HBCUs)

Wake Forest ADCC Research Education Component (REC) Core

Annual Symposium (Institution-wide)

Quarterly Methods Workshops
(provides tools to new AD investigators)

Twice monthly data-sharing & presentation AD interest group

Weekly: interdisciplinary case conference & Aging Seminar

Twice weekly AD/Aging journal clubs

Wake Forest ADCC

Research Education Component (REC) Core

Metrics

- # of new funded investigators with AD research focus
- # of new co-authors on AD-centric papers
- # of new racial/ethnic minority collaborators & funded investigators